Location: Amuda, North East Syria
Type of contract: Contract of collaboration
Duration: 12 months (3-month probation period) – with possible renewals
Closing date of the vacancy: 15 February 2024 (applications on a rolling basis)
Starting from: March 2024

GENERAL CONTEXT

Un Ponte Per (UPP) is an Italian NGO established in 1991 with a mission to prevent armed conflicts, protect human rights, and support local civil society in Middle Eastern and Mediterranean countries. Since 2015, UPP has been leading the way in the North East Syria (NES) response, developing a comprehensive system of health services delivered in 26 facilities, including mobile units, hospitals, primary health care centers, and rural health posts, as well as providing capacity building for local actors on Gender Based Violence (GBV) prevention and response, Child Protection (CP), Psycho-social Support (PSS) and protection mainstreaming in health programs. In 2022, UPP also launched a multi-year Health System Strengthening (HSS) programme to address the structural needs and contribute to the reinforcement of the NES health care system in the medium/long-term, encompassing the different components of HSS such as health education and capacity building of health professionals, health care planning and management at territorial level, quality of care, emergency preparedness and response, data management and production of health statistics to support evidence-based decision making.

DEFINITION OF THE POST

The Health Education Specialist (HES) will be responsible of achieving the programme's outputs aimed at reinforcing the training offer and the capacities of local Health Education Institutions (HEIs), through assessment and research, curriculum review, sub-granting, capacity building of trainers, and implementation of a post-graduate course on management of health care services and Global Health. The Specialist will form integral part of UPP Health Governance Department, she/he will be under the technical supervision of the UPP Health Governance Specialist and under the line management of the Project Manager, and will closely coordinate with the Health Governance Coordinator. She/he will be technically supervising and mentoring a local Health Education Officer (dedicated to support the health education component) and will provide advice and recommendations for mobilising additional expertise (both international and local) to achieve the planned goals throughout the project implementation, as needed.

ROLE AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The Health Education Specialist, in coordination with the key figures mentioned above, will be responsible of:

- Assessment of local Health Education Institutions in terms of administrative, accounting, reporting, management and absorption capacity constraints;
- Quality assessment of curricula and human and technical resources needed for delivering health education against recognised standards in the country of implementation (Syria) or in the region (Middle East);
